What's New?

- The App now uses the Lionbridge Content API to send out content for translation. Lionbridge Connector Support migrates your providers and configuration to the Lionbridge Content API.

- When selecting assets to send to the queue or directly out for translation, you now select the translation provider before specifying the source and target languages. This prevents you from selecting languages that are not supported for a particular translation provider.

- In the new Site Email Notification Group page, site administrators can now create groups of email addresses to facilitate receiving email notifications for jobs. The groups can contain manually added email addresses and email addresses of existing and imported Oracle Eloqua users. When sending out a job for translation, you can select the entire team, the job submitter, an email notification group, modify an existing group or add individual email addresses.
